Mrs. Dorothy M. Ludeman

IN MEMORIAM

Qui docet, discet--He who teaches, learns. Learns not only methods, but more important, virtues--patience, unselfishness, dedication. Mrs. Ludeman devoted 27 years of her life to instructing tomorrow's citizens. Often the obstacles seemed overwhelming, but she did her best to conquer them.

The ranks of the teaching profession have lost an outstanding member, but memories can never die. Viva Perpetua--Live Forever.

SENIORS

For the Seniors every step in 1966-67 led to that final glorious day--graduation. All plans hinged around that day; what do I do--work, college, marriage? As it drew closer it seemed to become more and more important, then in a few short hours it was gone and we were no longer students, but alumni of R.H.S.

The spirit of '67 was very prominent in many areas of Senior diversified activities. Being a Senior meant challenging and often exhausting work. But such activities as the junk haul, newspaper drive, magazine sales and class play had their reward--the Senior class trip.

Selling yearbook ads provided a chance for the Seniors to display their business management ability.

Term papers required hours of concentrated study and a lot of patience. But the rewards, in most cases, were worth the effort.

With all of these activities added to the normal classroom work, the Senior year passed by too quickly.

Guiding the Seniors through this memorable year were these officers: Roger Genter, President; Ric Nelson, Vice-President; Irene Henry, Treasurer; Steve Meyer, Secretary.

SENIOR YEAR

The high-pitched atmosphere of the Senior Hall ranged from joy to despair, but usually light-hearted fun was the password. Dashing paisley shirts and red licorice were always in evidence as were scattered papers left over from stacked lockers. Cries of "Curse you, Red Baron," and "We're the angels sent from heaven, we're the class of '67" echoed down the halls making them come alive. Yelling at pep rallies and basketball games also showed the pep and school spirit of the Seniors.

With the arrival of the long-awaited pictures and name cards, the graduating class once again converged in the "hallowed" hall to make the traditional exchanges.

Other varied activities consumed a great deal of the Seniors' limited "extra" time. Play practice, fishing in the science room aquarium, pulling muscles while playing "Twister," and converting the senior trip into one long, glorious party, were all part of the thrilling final year.

Club meetings, basketball games, dances, banquets --all played their part in activities '66-'67. Although a casual part of their climb up the ladder of education, to the students of R.H.S. they were an essential part. Each activity required time and effort, but the rewards of fun and social contacts far outweighed the work put into them. They made the many steps through school lighter and much more enjoyable.

EVERYWHERE—LOVE IS EVERYWHERE

Memories are made of: Months of planning . . . trying on formal gowns and gloves and shoes . . . colonial bouquets . . . shiny borrowed cars . . . final touches that produced one memorable and glorious evening of . . . watercolored pastel streamers . . . girls in chiffons, laces, and satins . . . a banquet fit for royalty . . . music by the Tempos . . . a movie, then bowling . . . breakfast, then home for some sle-zzzzzz.

Right: Young couples danced at the grand ball until the stroke of midnight to the sweet strains of low music and soft lights.

Prejudice and Puff were the bases on which the Junior and Senior classes of Ridgeville built two very successful plays. "Thunder on Sycamore Street" was presented on October 21 and 22 by the Senior class.

Although Joseph Blake's prison record was the result of an unfortunate traffic accident, the neighbors did not want that kind of person in their "respectable" neighborhood. A mob, under the direction of Frank Morrison, finally forms with the intent of getting rid of the Blakes--forcibly, if necessary. Justice prevails in the end as the Blake's regain their rightful place in society.

The Junior class displayed their theatrical talents on the nights of April 21 and 22. Their play "The Perfect Idiot" was a delightful comedy in 3 acts.

Discovering that Puff, the star athlete, is in danger of becoming ineligible a group of his friends ask the school genius to help them out. Dan Tennyson, a type of person who seems to read dictionaries for bedtime stories, agrees to help them out. He conceives the idea of using a form of hypnotism. Hilarious happenings result when Puff recites poetry, the hypnotism machine falls into the wrong hands and Dan intentionally fails his college entrance exam.

Behind the scenes Annette Liechty and Jim Rentz have make-up applied on stage.

Susan Rohrs, Marilyn Arnos, Randy Bremer, and Judy Reiser enact a portion of the play.

ED TO DRAMA AND COMEDY

Mr. Latherby (Richard Von Deylen) under the influence of a hypnotism machine, thinks he is a parsley-loving rabbit. Miss Booth (Diane Fitzenreiter), Miss Baker (Irene Boyer) and Mrs. Tennyson (Gloria Short) look on with amazement as Dan Tennyson (Gilbert Liechty) and Mr. Barnard (Rick Cordes) try to snap him out of it.

Puff (Dale Von Deylen) hypnotized into thinking he is a hat rack, starts to topple over while Carla (Mary Jane Tilse) and Jeanie (Susan Damman) try to stop him. Meanwhile, the policeman (Robert Gruenhagen) doesn't know what to think of the mixed-up happenings and draws his gun to keep matters under control.

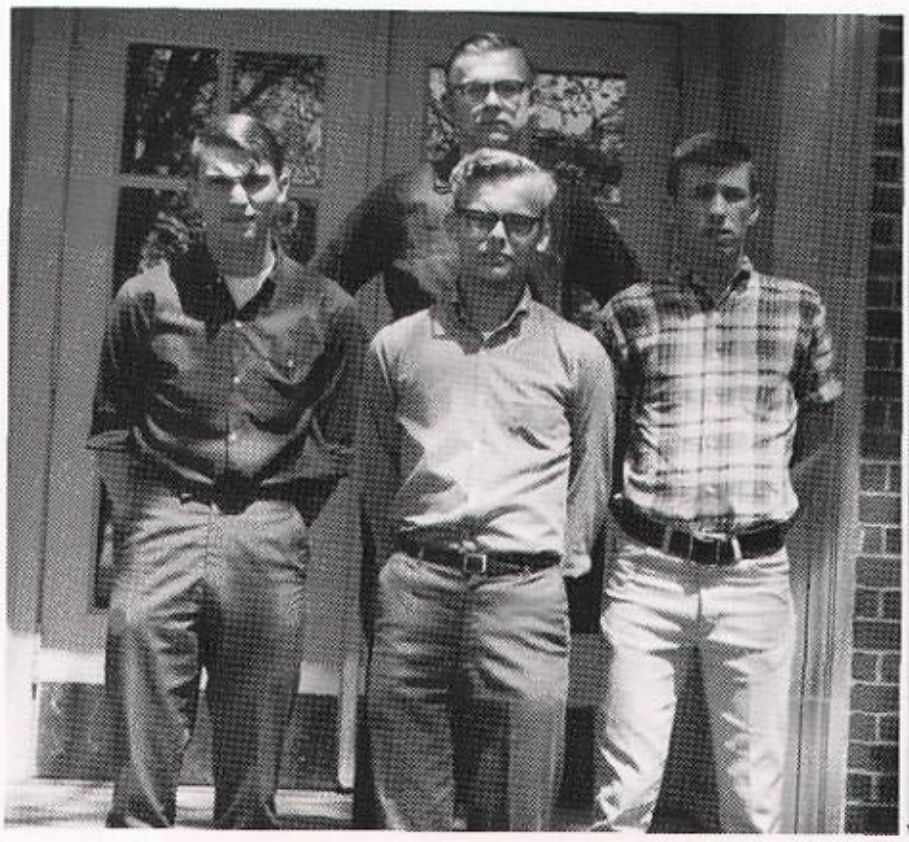
A grandiose new event was added to Ridgeville High School's activities this year with the appearance of Homecoming. Since the traditional High School Night was eliminated, the students needed a new event in which the Royal Court would be maintained. Such an event was Homecoming.

The night's festivities were started off on the right foot, as the Falcon reserve team defeated McClure's junior varsity. Next, the Queen and her court were introduced. Linda Bostelman was crowned Homecoming Queen for 1966-67 by Superintendent F. F. Hesterman. She was escorted to her throne by Co-captains Steve Meyer and Larry Wesche. Preceding her were Cheryl Damman, Freshman Attendant, escorted by Roger Genter; Wanda Mahnke, Sophomore Attendant, escorted by Denny Meyer; Nancy Gerken, Junior Attendant, escorted by Randy Bremer; and Susan Rohrs, Senior Attendant, escorted by Ric Nelson.

The Queen and her court had a joyous evening as the Falcons walloped McClure's varsity, 82-50.

A dance sponsored by the Student Council in honor of the Queen was held after the game in the multipurpose room. Music was provided by the Constellations from Napoleon.



ATHLETIC AWARDS

Thursday, April 6, marked the date of the annual Athletic Banquet, an event at which Ridgeville's athletes are honored for their participation in the school's sports program.

After everyone had enjoyed a fine meal, Mr. Vernon Hesterman gave the welcome and introduced Mr. William Blitz, the Toastmaster for the evening, Mr. Blitz, in turn, introduced Mr. Handler, who had the wrestling team stand. Coach Gerken was next up, and he presented the baseball team with their letters and awarded co-captains' trophies to Larry Wesche and Dennie Rohrs. Mr. Blitz then introduced Coach Norris. He presented first-year varsity cheerleading awards to juniors Betty Von Deylen, Becky Miller, and Marcille Beck, and senior Linda Bostelman. Then he awarded numerals to the reserve players and letters to the varsity players, and he gave special awards to Dennis Rohrs, Coaches' Award; Denny Meyer, Most Improved Player; and Steve Meyer, Most Valuable Player and Best Free Throw Percentage.

Doyt Perry, Athletic Director at Bowling Green State University, was the featured speaker. The main point of his speech was that "you can achieve any goal if you work hard enough at it".

COACHES BUILT MEN THROUGH ATHLETICS

Behind every successful team lies a coach. This especially held true for Ridgeville's five athletic teams, as the four coaches pictured here successfully molded men out of the boys who played under them.

Handling the greatest variety of coaching chores was head basketball coach Dan Norris. This past season, his third at Ridgeville, Coach Norris' squad came up with the best record of his coaching career, 13-7. In addition to varsity basketball, Coach Norris also took charge of reserve basketball, Jr. High baseball, and cross country.

In his fourth year at Ridgeville, varsity baseball coach Les Gerken's team came through with a moderately successful season. With the aid of Coach Randy Pickerel, Coach Gerken also took over the rest of the basketball chores. He coached the Freshman team, while Coach Pickerel directed the Junior High.

Besides the three previously mentioned sports, Ridgeville added two new ones to its athletic program this year--wrestling and track. Mr. Michael Handler and Mr. Michael Leson guided the wrestling squad, and Mr. Charles Meyer (not pictured) conducted the track team to a fourth-place finish in the first annual Henry County Laegue Track Meet for all the "A" schools in the county.

CROSS COUNTRY

In order to get in shape for the basketball season, those boys who didn't participate in fall baseball ran cross country. Above, Coach Norris starts the runners off on the grueling two-mile course.

WRESTLING

One of the two new sports added to Ridgeville's athletic program this year was wrestling. Above, Gilbert Liechty and Dave Lowery demonstrate the starting position, while team members Larry Lohse, Randy Rosebrock, and Ric Roth, and coaches Mr. Leson and Mr. Handler, watch from the sidelines.

The Falcons compiled a 13-7 record during 1966-67, the best since the 1958-59 season. This year's squad was composed of six seniors, three juniors and three sophomores. The reserve team, which was made up of two juniors and six sophomores, finished with an 8-11 record.

The season was started on the wrong foot, as the Falcons dropped a seven-point decision to Pettisville. They rebounded quickly to defeat league foes McClure and Malinta. After the next four games, of which they lost three, their record stood 3-5. A few changes were made, and the Falcons promptly ripped off a nine-game winning streak. Pettisville and Hamler were counted among the victims, and thus early season losses to both teams were avenged. The Falcons then prepared for the big battle with league-leading Holgate. They tried valiantly, but the Tigers squeezed out a 93-86 win. The Falcons eked by Deshler, and then prepared to face Holgate again in the Ayersville Sectional Tournament. They didn't quite have it, though, as Holgate ended the Falcons' season with an 80-61 victory.

At the conclusion of the season, the Henry County All-Star Team was announced. Two Falcons players, Steve Meyer and Larry Wesche, were honored for their outstanding play. Steve was awarded a first team berth and Larry was placed on the second team.

SUCCESS FOR FALCONS

Three juniors and one senior made up this year's varsity cheerleading contingent, which was the same as last season's reserve squad. These four girls, juniors Becky Miller, Marcille Beck, and Betty Von Deylen, and senior Linda Bostelman, were chosen in the spring of 1966 so that they could attend a cheerleading camp in the summer and have more time to practice their routines.

Early in the fall the cheerleaders picked out bright blue sailors' outfits trimmed in white for their uniforms. Captained by Marcille Beck and assisted by Mrs. Dan Norris, the squad organized the pre-season Pep Rally, sponsored dances and cake raffles, and always kept the school 100% behind the team.

CHEERLEADERS BOOST TEAMS TO

School spirit was at a feverish pitch the night of the pre-season Pep Rally. The rally included a snake dance through the streets of Ridgeville, a bonfire, and a dance afterwards.

One of the main attractions of the snake dance was the "Spiritmobile", below. Besides its obvious value to the spirit of the evening, it was used to transport the mascots of opposing teams to the bonfire. There they were "burned at the stake", just as the Falcons' opponents would be during the season.

VICTORY

After many hours of practice learning cheers and routines, the Reserve cheerleaders could be seen at every Reserve game urging the team on to victory. Attired in blue jumpers with white blouses, Pat Lohse Vickie Hesterman, Rita Rohrs, and Tanya Young encouraged the Junior Varsity to "Go, Fight, Win". They also held a cake raffle to help defray some of their cheerleading expenses.

Their Jr. High counterparts, Pam Gerken, Debby Bremer, Jane King, and Pat Norden, also spent considerable time and effort. They followed the Jr. High basketball team on the season's schedule and tournament trail.

PEP CLUB FILLED HALLS AND GYM WITH SPIRIT

Posters and solid backing for the team were the main objectives of the Pep Club this year. Each week a committee was assigned to be in charge for that week. Everything from Snoopy to paper tigers was used to build spirit for the upcoming game.

Senior Parents' Night was the high point of the Club's activities. The Club prepared a special program to honor the mothers and fathers of the senior athletes at the last home game. Corsages were presented to the mothers and the team beat Deshler to add the finishing touches to a memorable evening and year.

Managing the various activities of the Pep Club were Maretta Nofziger, V. Pres.; Vivian Hess, Pres.; Brenda Shibler, Sec.; Gloria Short, Student Council.

One of the main objectives of the National Honor Society is the encouragement of higher educational standards in the school. Ridgeville's chapter sought to do this by operating a paperback bookstore on Tuesday and Thursday noon. More than 100 different titles were offered at a time, with new books appearing regularly.

The bookstore proved to be a success and often provided a gathering place for the students. The money received from the book sales was used for a scholarship to help a worthy student buy college textbooks. This scholarship was presented to Roger Genter at Commencement.

TEEN TROUPE SANG TO SUCCESS

Under the direction of Mrs. William Engler, the 30 members of the Teen Troupe logged many hours of practice and presented several performances. Besides the annual Christmas and spring concerts, the group sang for the residents of Fairlawn Haven rest home in Archbold, Ohio, in early December. However, the big event of the year was contest. Efforts to recruit more male voices and extra practices preceded the contest performance, which was good for a II rating.

Each class at R.H.S. took pride in being themselves; each was locked in a unique struggle to stay a step ahead of the class behind them. Although each advancement meant new and greater responsibility, each class could not wait until that time when they would be a year further in high school. And every underclassman coveted that day when he would at last be a "mighty Senior," his job alone to rule the halls at R.H.S.

Guiding their class in various activities were: Beth Nelson, President; David Meyer, Vice President; Terry Von Deylen, Secretary; Steve Hoffman, Treasurer.

The students entering the seventh grade took a big step forward on the stairway of education. They had to become adjusted to a different kind of class schedule and a variety of teachers. In addition to these, the new Jr. High students were now included in varied extracurricular activities. Under the guidance of their advisor, Mr. Gerken, they held a class skating party in the spring of the year. To some people the seventh graders seemed never to be able to remain in one place for a very long time. This only shows their eagerness for action with bigger and better things to come.

Only one short year ago the eighth graders were the down-trodden members of the Jr. High. But that year eventually passed and they became the leaders of the complicated world of Jr. High. With the help of their advisor, Mr. Blitz, they planned and carried out a class party in the spring. Such activities as basketball, baseball, chorus, solo contest, and others kept them busy throughout the year. Registration for the next four years of high school was carried out in the spring. The glorious era of being the eighth grade ended and all too soon they were ready to step up into the hectic world of high school.

In the common everyday occurrences of a Freshman's life certain things stand out--the baggy overalls on Freshman Day, Ridgeville's first homecoming, and making friends with the students from St. John, Freedom. These unique experiences are mingled with a prescribed amount of school work to add up to a year of diversified activity.

The fun and merriment of Freshman Day were followed that evening by a party given in honor of the Freshman by the Sophomores.

All of the Freshman proudly cheered as their first attendant to the Royal Court, Cheryl Damman, was announced.

Registration also caused some extra problems this year with the future vocational school having to be considered.

Guiding their class through the hectic Freshman year were (L.-R.) Brian Bickel, V. Pres.; Tom Hoffman, Pres.; Dennis Meyer, Treas.; Christine Engler, Sec.

In addition to the 3 R's, the Sophomore class also concerned itself with 3 C's--Concessions, Contests and "Carnaby Street". Running the concession stand at the basketball games was a new and often trying experience for the Class of '69.

Band and Chorus contest and basketball games included many Sophomores. A few Sophomores were privileged to be members of the Varsity basketball team, while others played key roles on the Reserve team.

The clothing which was popular with the students this year was often labeled as "Carnaby Street" attire. Paisley prints, corduroy slacks, textured hose and "little-boy suits" were the first choice of teenagers in 1967. Kevin Schnitkey (right) models his "mod" corduroy slacks.

WORK BROUGHT PLEASING RESULTS

It was a busy but memorable year for the Juniors. In the fall the class elected their officers and picked their rings, which they received after a short eternity of waiting. Besides this there was the job of raising funds for the Senior trip. Committees had to be set up and work begun on the Junior play and the Prom.

With the task of planning such activities came the satisfaction of seeing the plans carried out. A junk haul and a car wash proved to be fairly successful ventures. Learning parts and arranging props and scenery for the play was followed at last for the challenge of performing for an audience. The hours of decorating and organizing for the Prom also seemed well spent when that grand night finally arrived.

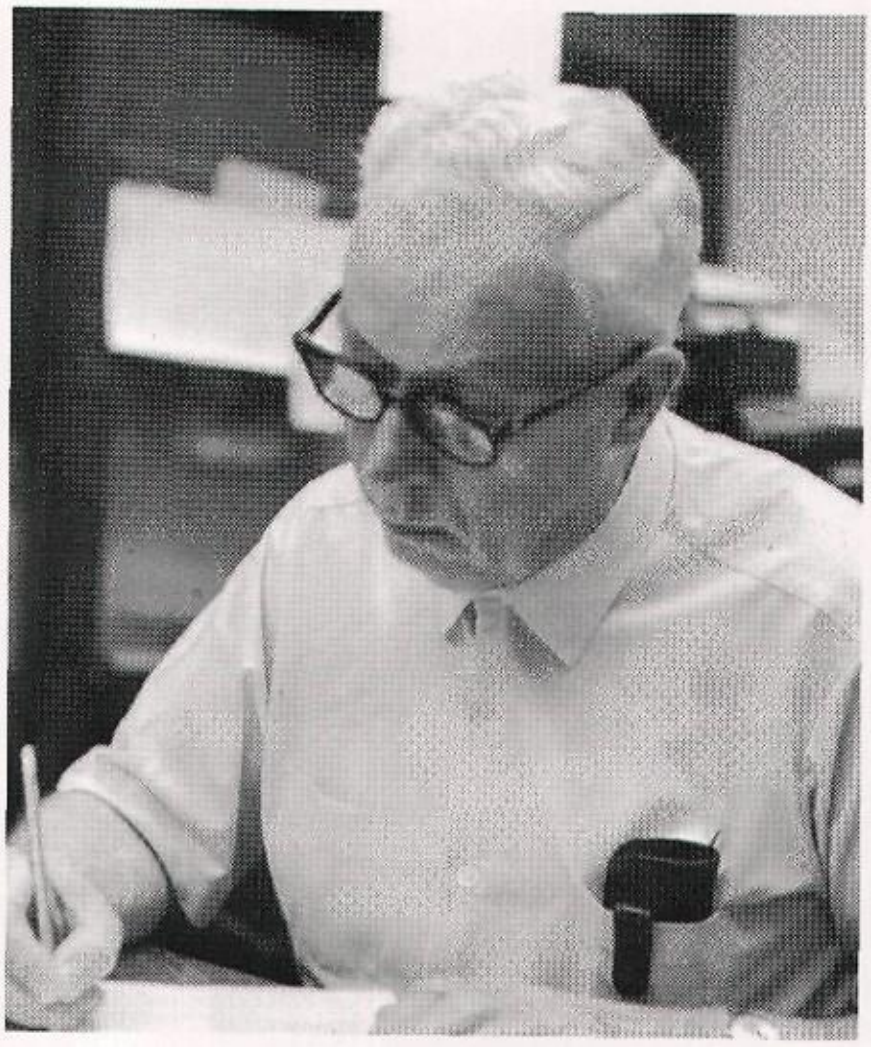
Teachers are endowed with the great responsibility of leading their students through a step-by-step approach to the vast resources of knowledge in the world today. They are not super-human, and thus cannot teach those who do not wish to learn. But the teachers at Ridgeville did their best to transfer the knowledge they had gained in their years of schooling to the students.

ADMINISTRATION GUIDED SCHOOL

The voters of the Ridgeville School Board District elected (L-R) Mr. Donald Badenhop, Mr. Walter Delventhal, Mr. John L. Henry, Mr. Elias Frey, and Mr. Arthur Hoffman to positions on the school board. These men met the first Tuesday of each month to discuss school matters.

School Board



Ridgeville's Board of Education dealt with many problems which confronted it during the year--teachers' contracts, approving expenditures, and considering consolidation, and many others.

The board members also met with the Napoleon board of education to consider the prospect of future consolidation. An unofficial survey was taken of the residents or Ridgeville and Freedom Townships by the Citizens Committee to discover their opinions on this matter. The results indicated that the citizens preferred to remain as we are as long as practical.

Mr. Emil Schult served as clerk and treasurer of the school board. When called upon, he also served as a part-time teacher.

Mr. Harry Sharp (above) served as principal for two-thirds of the year. He attended Edinboro State and held B.S. and M.S. degrees in education. In addition to teaching English and Speech he was advisor for the Senior Class and the Student Council.

ADMINISTRATION

Providing the best possible school program was the main responsibility of the administration. Principal Harry Sharp painstakingly organized the class schedule to meet the students' needs and interests and to comply with state requirements. This schedule was implemented through the combined efforts of Superintendent F. F. Hesterman, Mr. Sharp, and later Mr. Dan Norris, who became acting principal when Mr. Sharp resigned to take a position in another school system. These men also worked with the other teachers to keep courses, textbooks, and materials up-to-date.

Another important part of the administration's job was to enforce school regulations and make purchases authorized by the board of education. For example, a hall monitor system was established during the 1966-67 school year. Also, a new bus was purchased for a new route to include the students of St. John Lutheran School, Freedom Twp. This was necessary because of the state school bus regulations passed in 1966.

Mrs. Marie Schnitkey (right) served as secretary of the school office.

Mr. F. F. Hesterman (above) received his A.B. degree from Valparaiso University and his M.A. from Bowling Green State University. He carried the responsibility of administering the school's needs as superintendent.

SERVICES BENEFITED SCHOOL

Mr. Vernon Hesterman, Guidance counselor, and Mrs. Virgie Kutzli, librarian, were always ready to help a student with a problem or in need of information. Besides personal counseling, Mr. Hesterman performed several other duties: supervising registration, conducting freshman guidance classes, administering tests, providing advice and information about colleges and careers. Mrs. Kutzli kept the books in order and in good repair. She taught many library skills to the student librarians, and her help with research problems was invaluable at term paper time.

Again in 1966 the services of a student teacher from Defiance College were available to RHS. Miss Kathleen Stauffer conducted speech and 9th grade English classes for most of the first semester. She also advised the Pep Club during that time.

Ridgeville's seven buses were skillfully "manned" by five men and two women. Mr. Donald Niebergal drove the bus which transported the Freedom Twp. school-children to their respective schools. The kitchen staff fulfilled one of the most difficult taks in school--satisfying the appetites of hundreds of people everyday. The responsibility of keeping the school neat and clean fell to the janitors. Janitors are often called upon for extra service--unlocking the school for absent-minded students, cleaning up after extracurricular activities, and many other requests; for which they deserve a note of praise.

The steps of education looked very formidable to the eyes of an elementary student. Those in Kindergarten took that first big step that launched them on the way to unknown horizons of learning. The students in the upper grades picked out high school students as heroes; whose steps they would try to duplicate some day.

The guiding lights down the paths of education are held by teachers. It is not impossible to make the journey down these paths without a light, but the way does not seem as difficult with a lamp to guide. It is not easy for teachers to direct the students on their way. Knowledge, understanding, patience and even a sense of humor are required. But together the students and teachers learned and grew for the few brief months of the school year. Then it is time for the students to again proceed further down the path until they finally meet a greater teacher--life.

Forty-one migrant students were enrolled for special classes during the month of September. (Right) Mrs. Thelma Short is shown performing her teaching duties.

READING OPENED NEW WORLDS

Upon arrival at school at the beginning of the year, the first and second graders were greeted by new teachers and a few new classmates. Besides becoming acquainted with these names and faces, the first and second graders soon adjusted to the other changes of another school year.

Before long the first graders found that they could actually read--at least a few words. Excited about this fact, they joined in frequent trips to the library with the second graders, whose vocabulary and ability were constantly growing.

Other high points of the year were Halloween costume parties and Christmas parties, and the operetta put on by grades 1-6. The first and second graders played Dutchman, Japanese, and Indians and learned much about these people in getting ready for the presentation.

Another of the several teachers of the migrant classes was Mrs. Marie Benecke. (Right) she is seen with her group of youngsters.

3rd AND 4th GRADERS KEPT BUSY

Third and fourth graders often encounter more new experiences than most people realize. A very important thing for some was the beginning of instrumental music lessons in the fourth grade.

The event that was probably the most unique for them was a visit to the new skeleton in the science room. A few had the "pleasure" of touching "it."

Written book reports for the third graders brought on new problems and experiences.

But school was not all work and no play. Intramural basketball games kept the students occupied at noon hour. The youngsters also participated in hobby shows and an operetta.

Fourth Grade

Fifth Grade

Fifth & Sixth Grade

Reaching the upper grades meant important progress for the fifth and sixth grades. Lessons were a little more advanced than in the lower grades, and the quest to develop skill in reading, writing, and arithmetic became more intense. With increasing skill came new learning experiences like visiting throughout the world via the words and pictures of a social studies book.

Activities beside actual classwork gave the fifth and sixth graders a chance to develop a variety of interests and talents. In art class they expressed their creative imagination, and the finished products on display added color to their classrooms. Hobby and science shows demonstrated the expanding boundaries of their young minds. New responsibilities such as washing dishes in the cafeteria helped the sixth graders prepare for the big step into junior high.

ADVERTISING

Just as a school cannot operate without the taxes of the adults; neither can a yearbook be successful without the financial assistance of advertising. For the annual staff advertising represents that big step between their own world of school and the world of the adults; it somehow bridges the gap that at times seems to be an almost uncrossable chasm between teenagers and adults.

Reddy Says: We Want People to "Get Ahead"

Today's classrooms furnish knowledge that will help in tomorrow's world. That's why Toledo Edison urges employees to improve their skills, abilities and mental growth through company-sponsored education and training programs such as:

EDUCATION ASSISTANCE PLANS
ADVANCED MANAGEMENT COURSES
FOREMANSHIP CLASSES
SPECIAL ON THE JOB TRAINING AND STUDY

But. we also encourage other people to continue their education so they can qualify for increasingly important jobs such as those at Toledo Edison.
